sell of the Ulster counties made by Mr. Asquith on March 5, because it would inevitably lead to his overthrow by physical force. "The volunteer movement, in fact," adds the paper, "explains the Government's inability to renew the inter-party conversations and also Lord Lansdowne's doubt as to the efficacy of any meeting with negotiators who are not free to negotiate."

NATIONALIST VOLUNTEER CONTROL.

The Nationalist Volunteer Committee has accepted Mr. J. E. Redmond's suggestion that the Nationalist party should nominate 25 of its supporters to the executive, thus making the Nationalists out of the 60 members of that body.

In reply to a question in the House of Commons last night, Mr. A. Birrell stated that the Nationalist volunteers were increasing at the rate of 15,000 weekly.

ARMS AND AMMUNITION SEIZED.

A case of arms and ammunition for the Nationalist volunteers, consigned from Glasgow, has been seized in London.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE

INTERIM INJUNCTION.

REFUSED BY PRIVY COUNCIL

LONDON, June 17. 2.30 p.m.
The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council has refused the application for an interim injunction to restrain the Government of New South Wales from utilising Government House, Sydney.

ALBANIAN REVOLT.

ATTACK ON DURAZZO.

TIMELY REINFORCEMENTS.

DURAZZO, June 17.
The insurgents renewed their attack after the first repulse, and the fighting was practically continuous throughout Monday.

The rebels almost at tire out the garrison, and the most forward small contingents, with the exception of the main force, had orders to restrain their fire till the last moment. These detachments actually won to within 1000 yards of the palace.

In the evening, however, 1500 Maltese rebels arrived from Alexandria and relieved the exhausted Government troops. Thereupon a heavy rain poured in on the insurgents, whose lines were played upon by the searchlights from the warships.

The rebels were hampered by the lack of artillery; whereas the precision of the Government's machine guns, served by Dutch, German, and Austrian artillerists, was remarkable.

Eventually the insurgents withdrew. The rebels had lost heavily, but the casualties of the defenders only totalled two killed and 33 wounded.

A force of 1500 Loyalists yesterday occupied Tirana, a position of strategic importance, as the rebels near Durazzo, numbering 3000, are now between two fires.

Later.

The rebels have retreated to the northward.

COLONEL THOMSON'S HEROISM.

The King, Prince William of Wied, has telegraphed to the Queen of the Netherlands, stating that the victory of the defenders was due to the cool heroic leadership of Colonel Thomson, Military Governor of Durazzo, who was killed in trying to induce his men to follow him in an assault on the enemy.

STORM-SWEPT PARIS.

EXTENSIVE DAMAGE.

CITY DANGEROUSLY UNDER-MINED.

PARIS, June 16.
Further details regarding the severe thunder and rain storm which swept over Paris show that lightning struck a suburban church, killing four persons and injuring several others.

In the city two inches of rain fell in 35 minutes.

Four choir boys were injured and killed as they were leaving Saint-Philippe-du-Church. In all twenty deaths have been reported, and a number of people are still missing.

A large force of firemen and labourers is engaged searching the debris.

Four bodies have been recovered from the subways in the Place St. Philippe, and in the Place Saint-Antoine the taxi-car which fell into the hole was torn to pieces, together with the bodies of the chauffeur and passenger, who had also been recovered.

A hole 60 ft. by 10 ft. suddenly appeared under the tramway at Porte Clignancourt to-day.

Ropes stretched across the streets now indicate the danger zones, and hundreds of soldiers and police are guarding the approaches.

Most of the subways were due to the bursting of new sewers which have been laid parallel with the underground railways. The sewers were unable to carry the flood waters and burst. The water caused the railway tunnels to collapse, and also caused short circuits on the electric cables, which exploded the escaping gas from the dislocated mains.

It is believed that the great floods of 1910 took place in the same way.

The cause of the disaster was the fact that the whole city in recent years has become dangerously undermined and pipes have been placed too near the surface.

The Prefect is of the opinion that the subsidence in the streets were due to over-congestion of the tram traffic.

MEXICO.

CARRANZA AND VILLA.

A DEFINITE BREACH.

MEXICO CITY, June 16.
According to reports received here, General Villa, exasperated at the appointment of another general to assist him in his rebellion, has severed his relations with the latter when he suffered defeat. General Carranza, the administrative head of the Constitutionalists, thereupon decided to supersede General Villa in command.

met to the ground at Waverley and Bondi, and a motor boat blown ashore on Long Bay beach. Trees were uprooted everywhere, and leaves blown down.

Mrs. Watson, wife of Mr. J. H. Potts, veterinarian surgeon, told a story of the narrow escape of her two children. The children, with their aunt, were sleeping on the balcony of their home at Elthorne, Salisbury street, Waverley. About midnight Mrs. Potts decided to bring the children in, but she had no sooner got the youngsters inside when the wind got under the iron roof of the balcony, and lifted it off one end, dropping it down right on to the children's beds. Had it been two minutes later said Mrs. Potts, "the children must have been killed."

Yesterday all the beaches along from Long Bay, Maroubra, Coogee, Little Coogee, Bronte, and Bondi bore traces of the severity of the storm. In many places the beaches were strewn with the wreckage of houses and sheds in their vicinity. The new temporary surf sheds at Coogee suffered badly. The roof was torn right off, and the gabled front was hurled in all directions. Heavy quantities of sand were piled up in the vicinity of the tram line, and a large number of telephones and telegraph wires were down.

At Bondi the roof was lifted off the Wentworth dining-room, while Tucker's dining-room at the surf sheds also suffered the effects of a portion of the roof, and the two-storeyed shop which the beach had a large portion of the roof dragged from the stanchions.

The Olympic Picture Palace, Bondi, also fared badly. A new roof, which was nearing completion, collapsed against the force of the wind and dragged with it a new screening curtain fixture and a gable end.

In Oxford-street, between the Paddington post office and Bondi Junction, about six land slips occurred.

The long line of poplar trees which stretched from Kensington tramway platform to the old tollbar presented a sorry spectacle yesterday. They were twisted and turned to an incredible extent, and four of them were completely uprooted, leaving others slightly damaged or tilted.

Wind-swept drifts of sand, a few feet high, were hurled in all directions. Heavy quantities of sand were piled up in the vicinity of the tram line, and a large number of telephones and telegraph wires were down.

At Bondi the roof was lifted off the Wentworth dining-room, while Tucker's dining-room at the surf sheds also suffered the effects of a portion of the roof, and the two-storeyed shop which the beach had a large portion of the roof dragged from the stanchions.

The Prime Minister: I have already told the House and the country, and the House and the country is already aware of all that has been written by His Excellency on the subject. There is nothing more to say, and I have not the slightest intention of saying anything. Why this demand refers for documents?

An Opposition member: Because it is the usual thing.

The Ministerialist: Mr. Watson never did it. (Disorder.)

The Prime Minister: My friends know that no such thing has ever been done during the whole of our Federal career—(interruption)—not once, and I see too much of what is going on elsewhere to make me play into the hands of those who want to use this thing as a football during the election. These things should be kept away high and dry above party politics. (Ministerial cheers.)

Mr. Bennett (Vice-President of the Prime Minister): My attention had been drawn to a circular concerning a heading "Cook's Latest." (Laughter.) A number of charges were made, and he wished to know whether there was any truth in the circular.

Mr. Finlayson: The Prime Minister put you up to ask the question.

Mr. Bennett: Labour lies.

The Prime Minister said he had a circular in his hand. They were all about the place. He would like to put these statements in "Bansard" as a Labour lie right at the beginning of the contest. (Government cheers.)

Mr. McMillan (Q.): Do you call the labourers of your union liars?

Mr. Kelly: No, only those who live on them. (Uproar.)

The Prime Minister said he had heard something from a member of the other side that was going to be the dirtiest campaign that had ever been seen. (Disorder.) Whatever was being done by the officials was being done under the machinery set going by the members opposite. (Interruption.) Names caught not to be there if it was seen they had not right to be there. The machinery provided by the other party would be put into operation by men who had been selected by the Public Service Commissioner appointed to do so. Therefore, to say Mr. Cook had anything to do with it was a slander and a lie. (Ministerial cheers.)

The Prime Minister: The Americans were removed to the hospital by the Civil Ambulance. Mrs. Curry was buried beneath about 4ft. of bricks and mortar, and was in a serious condition. While Miss Curry and Mrs. Mott were also removed from the debris, but they were not as badly injured.

Mr. Curry was found in his cottage when he went into the yard to see his tools, but when he returned he found that a heavy beam had fallen across his bed. Mr. Curry's son had just left his bed when the walls collapsed, and some of the bricks fell where he had been sleeping.

Some of the roof timbers were blown 150 feet away, and portion of it landed on a neighbour's two-storeyed house, demolishing the structure and killing three people.

The furniture in Mr. Mott's and in Mr. Curry's house was very badly knocked about.

OFFICIAL REPORT.

RISE IN TEMPERATURE.

At about 12.45 a.m. yesterday the roofs of three brick cottages, Nos. 12, 14, and 16, Garden-street, Sydenham, were blown off, and the chimneys and portions of the walls collapsed.

In No. 12, Mr. and Mrs. Lane and a seven-year-old son lived. In No. 14 were Mr. and Mrs. C. G. and Mrs. D. H. Hall. In No. 16, Mr. and Mrs. Mott resided. Most of the inmates were in bed when the walls and chimneys fell, and of those Mrs. Curry and her daughter were injured by falling bricks, and were removed to the hospital by the Civil Ambulance. Mrs. Curry was buried beneath about 4ft. of bricks and mortar, and was in a serious condition. While Miss Curry and Mrs. Mott were also removed from the debris, but they were not as badly injured.

Mr. Curry was found in his cottage when he went into the yard to see his tools, but when he returned he found that a heavy beam had fallen across his bed. Mr. Curry's son had just left his bed when the walls collapsed, and some of the bricks fell where he had been sleeping.

THE SUFFRAGISTS.

During the 24 hours ended at 9 a.m. yesterday a wind and rain storm of great severity worked on the coast of New South Wales. Sandhills, rocks, and trees rapidly descended south from Port Stephens. The greatest intensity of the storm, as indicated by the area of heaviest rainfall, was experienced in the Blue Mountain districts, where the rainfall amounts received since 9 a.m. Tuesday varied from two to three inches.

The rainfalls reported were 260 points at Blackheath; Carlton had 206 points; Penrith 205; Lawson 250; Newville 170; Springwood 160; Mount Victoria 150; Maitland 130; Muswellbrook 130; and Picton 120.

Light to moderate amounts were also received at scattered places on the plateau.

The co-operation of a very energetic high pressure of the winter descended with a combined monsoonal and Antarctic disturbance, which moved from the north-west, west to south-east gales, and rough seas along the coast.

A curious feature in regard to the meteorological incompleteness from various parts of the State, but the chief fails to hand between one and two inches were—Gosford 97, Mudgee 141, Port Stephens 141, Jersey's River 130, Taree 120, and Wollongong 100.

The total rainfall reported was 250 points at Blackheath; Carlton had 206 points; Penrith 205; Lawson 250; Newville 170; Springwood 160; Mount Victoria 150; Maitland 130; Muswellbrook 130; and Picton 120.

Light to moderate amounts were also received at scattered places on the plateau.

THE SENATE.

DEFENCE MINISTER'S CHARGE.

At 10.45 a.m. yesterday the Prime Minister, Mr. McCall, told the Senate that the election of the members of the House of Representatives had been delayed until the 2nd of July.

The Minister for Defence: You are attacking the others? I will supply you with the proof.

In reply to another question, Senator McCall said the Act was being administered in accordance with the provisions of the previous Government.

Senator McGregor: Are you collecting the 5%? What is the reason for the delay?

The Minister for Defence: What you want is a dirty roll. (Disorder.)

Senator (A.B.C.): took exception to the remark.

The Minister for Defence: I withdraw the remark, but day after day, I have to sit and listen to accusations of corruption, and the like. (Disorder.)

Mr. Russell (Vic.): I moved the adjournment of the House to discuss the question of freights and tonnage rates. The motion was carried.
